OVERALL ASSESSMENT

CURRENT STANDINGS

Exploration

You have been active in exploring your passion and interests that involve both school clubs and starting several non-profit organizations. You are currently on track in terms of explorations.

Personal Brand

You have molded yourself to form the following personal brand: a confident, extroverted person with a knack for public speaking who care about humanity (as shown by your organizations). This is a good start. From personal brand development perspective, this is still a little bit on the generic side.

Academic Performance

You have an excellent performance with an average IB scores of 6 – 7 on all subjects.

AREAS OF IMPROVEMENT

Passion/Interest Exploration

Since you are on track and still in the Grade 9, your next step is to take on more challenges, such as expanding your organizations, take on more leadership roles, internships, etc.

Personal Brand

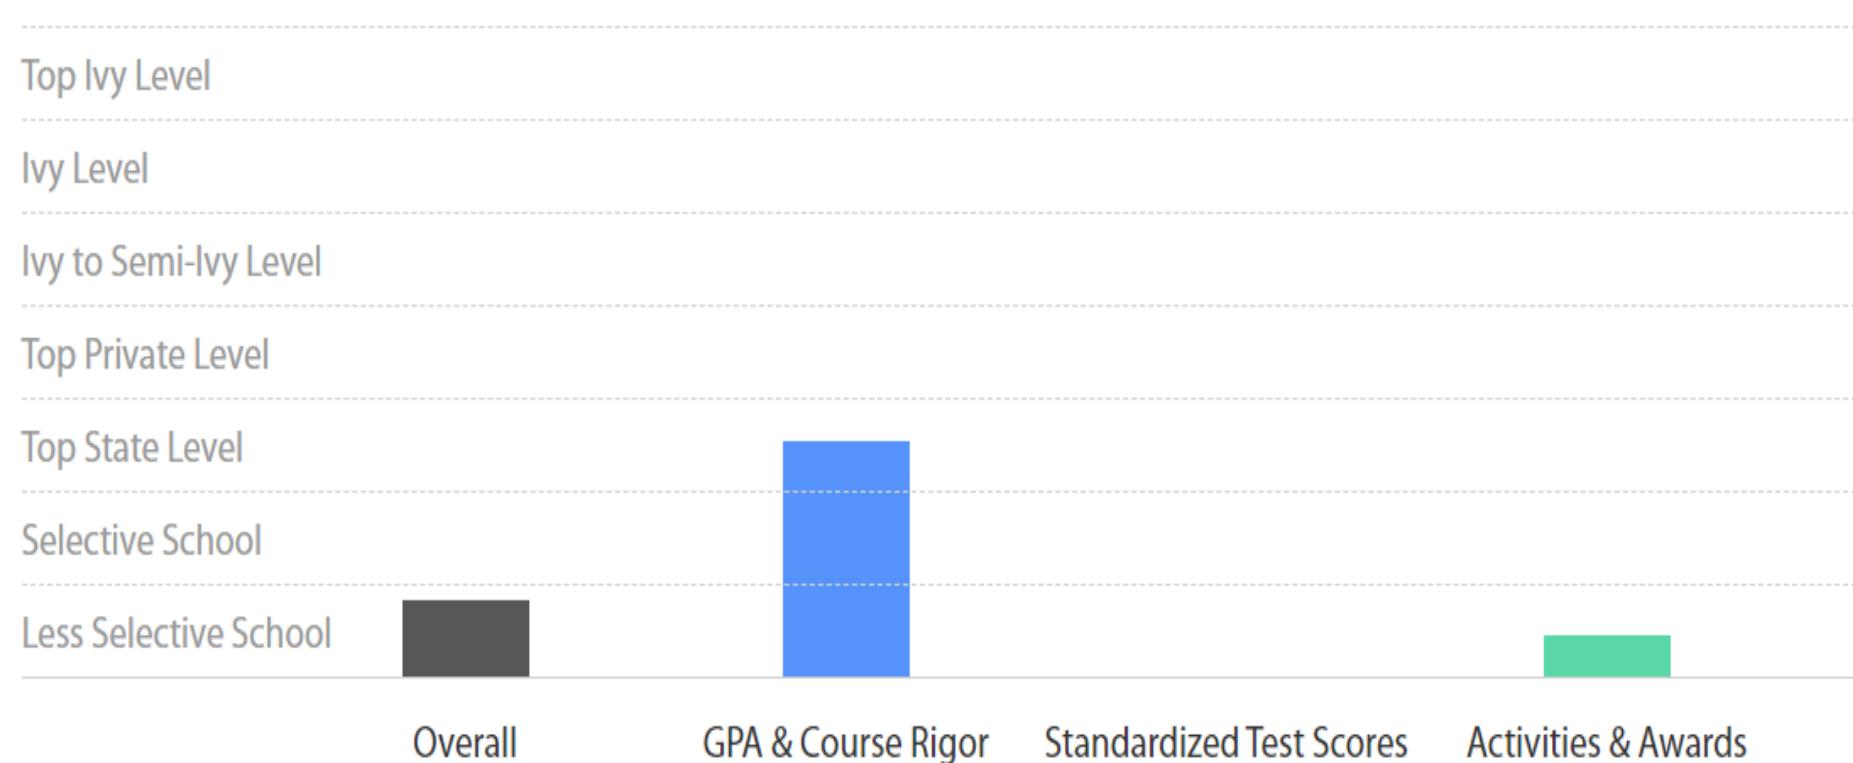

While you have molded your personal brand to some level, you need to further distinguish yourself by gaining more specific skillsets and more accomplishments that show impact to your community in order to develop a unique personal brand.

Summary:

You are currently on the right track. What you need to do is to keep challenging yourself on various fronts in order to confirm your academic interest and enable you to develop a more unique personal brand.

Admission factors chart to determine your university admissions competitiveness level.

Note:

Your current overall admissions factors show that you are well-suited for Less Selective Level schools, but these factors will change depending on future performance. Also note that you haven't taken the SAT/ACT, thus the assessment here was rather dragged down.

HOW TO POSITION YOU IN A UNIQUE MANNER FOR UNIVERSITY APPLICATION

“Personal Brand is one or two sentences that student would like the admissions committee to remember about.”

The good news is that you seem to have already narrowed down your academic interest and personal passion. However, as previously mentioned, your current personal brand is still a bit too generic. This means that there is a very high probability that others will have a personal brand that is similar to yours. Therefore, it still needs improvement: you need to show off more accomplishments in your public speaking interest and aim for a bigger scale goal in the volunteering organizations that you have started. For example, try to take TheCritterClub into a whole new level (nation-wide or perhaps international scale) within the next 2 – 3 years.

Your main focus within the next TWO - THREE years is to gain exposures on the potential career paths in International Relations and Business; work on personal projects that are more directly related to these fields; and continue to expand your current organizations and gain public recognitions.

Note:

Planning and seeing the bigger picture is key to gaining more accomplishments and recognitions in what you are doing and this will allow you to develop a more unique personal brand.
